AirVenture Oshkosh Flyout

July 24 – 29, 2010

WHAT? There's really no place in the world like the Experimental Aircraft Association's annual convention, EAA AirVenture Oshkosh. EAA is the "Spirit of Aviation," dedicated to keeping aviation fun, accessible, and safe for everyone. At EAA AirVenture are representatives from just about every aspect of aviation, from NASA and the military to mega-dollar business-jets, ultralights, pilot-training companies, and gadget manufacturers. If it has something to do with aviation, it's here.

Colorado Flight Center will be guiding a group of aircraft to Oshkosh in 2010. In addition to providing guidance on the flying and ground aspects of the trip, CFC will conduct thorough briefings to all pilots in order to prepare them for the flying thrill of a lifetime: landing at busy Wittman Regional Airport during this great event (the world's busiest airport during this one week each year).

WHEN? The 2010 EAA AirVenture Oshkosh will be held July 26 – August 1, 2010. This flyout is scheduled for the early part of the show, Saturday thru Thursday, July 24 – 29th. On Saturday, 7/24, we will fly from Grand Junction to Dubuque, Iowa (DBQ, proposed), overnight in Dubuque, then fly into Oshkosh early Sunday morning. We have scheduled 3 days (Monday/Tuesday/Wednesday) as show days so that you may take in the variety of educational seminars, exhibit halls, museum, air show and other activities and truly "see it all." We will depart for home Thursday, 7/29, hopefully arriving back at GJT in one day.

WHERE? Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

COST? The cost is $300 per airplane. This price includes VFR charts, guidance and several formal briefings by Colorado Flight Center staff. All hotel lodging/camping, food, entrance tickets, etc. is at each customer's expense. Please plan ahead; rooms fill fast! We have a limited number of motel units reserved—first come, first served.

To register, please fill, detach and return this form to us. See you in Oshkosh!
