

Standard Training Cross-Country Routes and Airports

The airports listed below will be used for student pilot solo cross-country flights. Due to the nearby mountainous terrain, only these designated airports are approved for student solo cross-country flights. The routes chosen to and from these airports are at the discretion of the instructor, but must comply with the solo procedures outlined in the Colorado Flight Center Operations Manual. All other airports must be approved by the chief flight instructor for student pilot solo cross-country operations.
